The St. Petersburg Gazette has interviewed a member of the United States embassy as to the reasons why the United States assumed a hostile attitude towards China and the motive of Li Hung Chang's declaration that Minister Conger could be sent safe to Tien-Tsin on condition that the United States abandon the idea of a march on Peking. The member of the United States embassy in question is quoted as saying the United States was indignant at thus being bargained with, and expressed the belief that the United States would send many troops to China.

The Hanover Courier, discussing the plan of campaign, says to-day that Foreign Office circles regard the success of the present movement as next to impossible, and expect that the first task of Count Von Waldersee, after his arrival at the front will be to lead the advance upon Peking.

Lieutenant Colonel Reinhold Wagner, discussing the military problem in the National Zeltung, argues that the roads leading from Peking to the interior ought to be seized in order to prevent the escape of the rebeis and that ther, with an army of sand men, an advance should be made along both banks of the Pei-Ho. The Militair Wochenblatt to-day prints a list of Count Von Waldersee's staff, thirty officers, including eight from the general staff, and one each from the Saxon, Bavarian and Wurtemburgian armies. In addition to the names already cabled the list includes the following from the general staff: Count Von Wartenburg, Baron Marschall Major Von Zitzewitz and Captain Von der Groeben. Presents Resolutions Adopted by the Newspaper Publishers' Association-Strike Benefits.

MILWUAKEE, Aug. 14.-Frederick Driscoll, commissioner of the American News: paper Publishers' Association, addressed the International Typographical Union to-day as a representative of the special standing committee of the American Newspaper Publishing Association, making several suggestions in the interest of harmony between the publishers and the Inthe publishers in relation to various subjects of interest to employers and employes. Mr. Driscoll noted the vast aggregate of interests embodied in the Pubishers' Association and stated that considerable bitterness of feeling has been engendered because of the action of the International Typographical Union in compelling proofreaders and linotype machinists to become members of the Typographical Union, which classes were in no sense to be called printers, and these new requirements occasioned a great deal of

Mr. Bradshaw says his company does not believe the demands of the workers are just and that the resumption is not a victory for them, but for the business of the country, for the reason that orders are so pressing that further idleness was impossible. The workmen are joyful at the action, for in this great iron manufacturing city this is the first iron mill to sign, and the act is regarded as a straw that will have much weight in forcing the Republic Company to sign for its dozen big mills, two of which are in Muncie. (CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.) days of his success always admitted, was due the fire of ambition which early was kindled in his breast to make himself a success in the world. Young Huntington was not a particularly bright student in his school days, and the last day he attended school of any sort he had trouble with his teacher, Russell Wilson, and, snatching his cap from the rack, made a bolt for the door, stopping on the threshold long enough to bid good-bye to his schoolmates and to his teacher, in a bit of verse which furnished considerable amusement for the pupils and a good deal of discomfort for the teacher. This hasty leave-taking took place just before Mr. Huntington was fourteen years of age, and almost immediately he started on the road as a peddler of tinware. He never again returned to Harwinton to make his home, but from time to time his success in the financial world reached the ears of his old schoolmates, and fifteen years ago he returned to his native town and erected a memorial to his mother, Elizabeth Vincent Huntington, which will serve to perpetuate his name and his success in Harwinton. The memorial was in the form of a massive granite chapel, erected at a cost of $50,000. When completed it was presented to the Congregational Church of Harwinton, of which he

ROBBED IN SLEEPING CAR.

Miss Brady Says She Put $5,000 Worth of Jewelry in a Stocking. PARIS, Tex., Aug. 14.-Miss Benedette Brady, of San Antonio, was robbed of jewelry valued at $5,000 some time during Saturday night or Sunday morning, on 'Frisco passenger train No. 1, south-bound, on her way home from St. Louis. She left St. Louis Saturday evening, taking a sleeper. When she retired she tied all of her jewelry up in a handkerchief, dropped the jewelry in a stocking, and says her intention was to place it under the pillow, but that she may have put it in the upper berth with some other things. She got off at Rogers, Ark., for breakfast, and discovered her loss after leaving Rogers. A search of the Pullman was made and the empty stocking was found rammed down between the heating pipes and wall of the coach. Miss Brady got off the train at Fort Smith and returned to Rogers to see if she could obtain any trace of her missing jewelry, but failed. She arrived in Paris this morning, and reported her loss to the chief of police. She will remain here a day or two, while the of-

Design for the Monument.

The Nancy Hanks Lincoln Monument Association, of which Governor Mount is the head, and which accepted the offer of Colonel J. S. Culver, of Springfield, Ill., to build a monument over the grave of Lincoln's mother in Spencer county, Indiana, has accepted the design of Thompson Stickle, of Springfield. The lower base rests on a solid foundation, then comes a massive rock face base, the brackets forming the suppart for the ale being cut from the solid rock. A scroll unrolls and reveals the name "Nancy Hanks Lincoln," and underneath is the inscription, "Mother of Abraham Lincoln." Ivy, representing affection, and a branch of oak, an emblem of nobility, surround the words.
